Headline:
Long spells of very warm sunshine developing.

Today:
Any early cloud soon clearing then a dry morning with long spells of unbroken sunshine. A little more cloud is expected in the afternoon but with light winds it will feel very warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Tonight:
A dry evening and night with late sunny then long clear spells, although rather more cloud is expected in the west. With light winds a few mist patches are possible. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Friday:
A bright day with sunny spells. There will be a little more cloud around than previous days but, with light winds, it will still feel very warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Very warm again Saturday with sunny spells but cloudier and cooler Sunday with occasional mainly light rain. Becoming brighter again Monday with a cool northerly breeze.
